Guest Lecture On "Practical Exposure to the Non-Obviousness and Industrial Applications Of Patents and Copyright"

Date: 12/07/2024

Time: 1.30 pm

Venue: Class room 403

No. of Participants: 14

Resource Persons: Adv. Anirudh Murali

On July 12, 2024, the Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Cell, in association with the Centre for PG Studies, organized a guest lecture on "Practical Exposure to the Non-Obviousness and Industrial Applications of Patents and Copyright." The session was led by Adv. Anirudh Murali, High Court, Karnataka, who has extensive experience in dealing with copyright-related cases. The objective of the workshop was to raise awareness among students about the practical exposure to the non-obviousness and industrial applications of patents and copyrights and to help them understand the legal implications of using non-obviousness and industrial applications of patents and copyrights.

During a lecture, Ms. Mahima provided her insights on patents and copyright laws and policies, with a particular focus on non-obviousness. She explained the key principles of patents and copyrights and how they are used in industrial applications, along with the challenges and opportunities they present. The lecture had a total of 17 attendees (14 Students and 3 Faculty) from Sindhi College, consisting of M. Com and M. Com (FA) students who actively participated in the session. They gained valuable knowledge on the topic through the highly interactive guest lecture, where they had the opportunity to ask questions and clarify their doubts.

FDP plays a crucial role in enhancing the capabilities of academic staff. These programs aim to equip faculty members with the necessary skills, knowledge and resource to engage in innovative teaching and contribute to their respective fields.

Sindhi College understands the importance of the same and has organised 8 days virtual FDP on topic very much relevant to the present trends, research titled "Quantitative data analysis using SPSS with interpretation and writing research article with AI from 14th to 21st June 2024. The pi ogram was organised in association with Pimax

DAY 1

Dr Arthy from Christ University, Bengaluru was invited as the guest for the first day to talk on the basis of research. Dr Arthy is a very knowledgeable in the area of research. Mam spoke on types of Variables, types of data and methods of data collection, different measurement scales used, identification of problem, hypothesis setting, population, sampling and types, statistical tools to measure the data.

DAY 2

Dr. Janani h. Vinagarajan, VIT University, Chennai was invited as the guest for day 2 to talk on SPSS. The session was very useful as it was not a practical session. All participants were asked to install SPSS software which was provided by the organizers. Dr. Janani shared the data and for the same SPSS was used to analyse the data. The session also focused on testing reliability of data and validation of data collected. Day 2 was more of a hands-on where all participants were using the software and learning.

Day 3

Dr. Arthi from Kistu Jayanthi College chaired the session as a resource person on 30 day. Mam is an eminent personality in teaching and research field. Her area of interest was on framing Hypothesis and testing the same.

This session gave an insight on framing hypothesis as this is the most important area based on which the research work is conducted. Dr. Arthi discussed on the use of One sample t-testing, independent sample t-test, Paired t-test, Chi-square and coexact analysis and reliability test. This information helped the participants to understand when to use different statistical tools.

Day 4

Dr.Somsundaram from Kristu Jayanthi College, Bengaluru. 4th day focused on one way and two way Anova, Cluster analysis. These three are amongst important statistical tools used, that allows researchers to find and explore underlying themes in order to explain similarities or dissimilarities between investigated datasets

Dr.Sathish from Christ University Bengaluru chaired as the resource person for 5th day. Topic for the day was on correlation and regression. This is also a statistical tool used in analysis the data. The session used data, which was a practical session. All participants participated by using the data and learning about the statistical tool.

Dr.Aithi from Kristu Jayanthi College, Bengaluru chaired 6th day as resource person on the topic Mediation and Moderation based regression analysis. This is a tool used in clinical research to study how it operates and when it exists. The speaker briefed the uses of the tool, on the data that can be used on these tools.

Day 7

Dr.Sathish P, Christ University, Bengaluru was the resource person on the topic Research article and selection of journals. The speaker gave an in-depth knowledge on how to write an article. Publishing the article is also a vital task. Selection of journals is something which can add weightage to the article. The session elaborated on identifying the journals which are indexed on scopus, web of science and ADBC.

Day 8

Dr.Sowmya Rani, Editor, Editage Founder, Sowmia AWW Coimbatore was the speaker for the last day of FDP on the topic - AI based tools for Research Writing. As AI usage is booming in all sectors, the same is used in writing research article. The session focused on AI and research writing, validating data, questions, searching literature review, image creation which can be used in the articles, simplifying data analysis using AI.

Overall 8 days sessions were collectively a very useful program for all research scholars @8: to 10:30 AM. The sessions were highly interactive and focused on the practical aspects of writing a good article. There was good participation with 138 participants from various institutions.

Workshop on “CopyrightSdGdA ”

Date: 02/02/2024

Time: 2.00 pm

Venue: Seminar Hall

No. of Participants: 25

Resource Persons: Advo. Mahima Meenaxi, High Court, Karnataka

On 5th February 2024, the Intellectual Property Rights (IPR) Cell in association with the Centre for PG Studies organized a workshop on "Copyrights and AI". The session was led by Ms. Mahima Meenaxi, Advocate, High Court, Karnataka, who has extensive experience in dealing with copyright-related cases. The objective of the workshop was to create awareness among students about the importance of copyrights in the age of AI and to help them understand the legal implications of using AI-generated works.

During a workshop, Ms. Mahima provided her insights on Copyright laws and policies, with a particular focus on AI-generated works. She explained the key principles of copyrights and how they apply to AI-generated works, along with the challenges and opportunities they present. The workshop had a total of 25 attendees from Sindhi College and Govt. R C College, consisting of M.Com and M.Com(FA) students who actively participated in the session. They gained valuable knowledge on the topic through the highly interactive workshop, where they had the opportunity to ask questions and clarify their doubts.
